NTK Oxygen Sensors' Salvage Sensor Recovery Program (SSRP) Rules

NGK Spark Plugs Canada Limited is pleased to introduce our Salvage Sensor Recovery Program (SSRP) to all professional technicians. NTK Oxygen Sensors is a brand within the NGK Spark Plug Canada Limited product lineup.

NGK developed the SSRP program to encourage responsible practices in the automotive aftermarket by promoting the recovery of replaced oxygen sensors. NGK's SSRP program will reward Technicians who recover oxygen sensors similar to box top program rewards offered to Technicians for collecting UPC codes. SSRP is designed for those who choose to reduce, re-use and recycle.

The SSRP program details are as follows:

- Replaced oxygen sensors may be sent to NGK where materials in the oxygen sensors will be recovered. All brands are accepted. This program includes but is not limited to NTK Oxygen Sensors.
- The Technician collects thirty (30) used/failed oxygen sensors and sends them postage paid to NGK. NGK in turn rewards technician $15.00 per package ($0.50 per sensor) in the form of a gift card.
- Technicians will need to remove and discard the wiring harness before sending the oxygen sensors to NGK.
- NGK Spark Plugs Canada Limited reserves the right to refuse shipments and participation in NGK's SSRP based on misuse of the program, short shipments, over-shipments or other basis as determined appropriate in its sole discretion. NGK will notify technician with the reason the shipment is refused.
